

A PANIC IN A THEATRE

Ridiculous Cause of a Very Serious Danger.

A Drunken Man Replies to a Question and Sets a Crowded House in Violent Agitation—Wild Excitement.

New York, April 21.—A panic occurred last evening in Haverly's Brooklyn Theatre, which at one time threatened to produce very serious results. The house was crowded at a performance of the Roman Rye. In the cellar scene of the fifth act are the lines "Was there?" A deep stillness reigned in the house as Mr. Hardie, who personated Hearne, uttered the words. From the crowded gallery came a loud guttural "if," which descended like a cry of fire. The noise came from a drunken man who had suddenly been aroused from sleep. A number of people near the door of the gallery clattered down stairs and the noise thus made started a panic all over the theatre. The panic seemed to reach every part of the house at the same time. Men and women rushed frantically from the front seats and stumbled over those who had already started. A terrified cry rang through the house. When the panic was at its height and women were fainting on every side, two stentorian voices were raised and one came from Manager M. C. Cornell, standing at the footlights, who called out that there was no fire. Just at this time the lowering form of a policeman advancing down the center aisle attracted the attention of the affrighted people. The officer in a voice that sounded like a trumpet announced that the trouble was caused by a drunken man and there was no fire. Both announcements had the desired effect and the panic subsided almost as quickly as it had arisen.

Many people had their clothes torn, and in the first struggle to get out several men and women received slight injuries. The man who created the panic was locked up.

THE POGHONTAS HORROR.

The Last of the Bodies Being Removed.

POGHONTAS, Va., April 21.—Twenty bodies were taken out of the mine yesterday, nine of which were identified notwithstanding their decomposed condition. Martin Kippen, a German, was identified by an envelope in his pocket which bore his name Peter Haniss, a Hungarian, was identified by his clothing. A Hungarian named Klash larger by a pair of boots; John Kay by his pair of boots and the location in which he was found; John Kluska, a Hungarian, was recognized by his brother; Edward Mitchell, an American, was identified by a pair of red drawers; John Kluska by his belt. It was supposed the latter body had been brought out some time ago, but his sisters knew some parts of his clothing. The body of Kluska was identified by his curly hair; Mike John, a Hungarian by a peculiarly made jacket. This makes one hundred and nine bodies taken out. Some half dozen or more are supposed to be buried in the far entry. These will not be recovered until the mine is cleared out, and it is thought that there are some who will never be found. All but three of the bodies have been buried near the scene of the explosion in a burying ground selected and allotted as their last resting place by the owners of the mine. The managers of the mine announce that they will resume operations in a few days.

NEWS MONOPOLY SCHEME.

Defeat of the Waterson Bill in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The News Copy right Bill is defeated. The well known scheme of the large city dailies to organize a news monopoly for the purpose of shutting out the country press, was defeated by Henry Waterson, of the Louisville Courier-Journal, and was nipped by him and a few others who were prominent in the scheme with considerable vigor. The bill was introduced by Senator Sherman, and was met by Senator Sherman's adverse committee report unanimously against the bill just laid before the Senate. The measure has gone to join the list of the defeated schemes of the present session.

Newspaper to be Sold at Auction.

PITTSBURGH, April 21.—It is stated that Colonel Robert F. Nevins, editor and proprietor of the Pittsburgh Times, has finally decided to dispose of his paper at public auction on the morning of April 28. Rumors of contemplated change of the ownership of this journal have been frequent of late, but it was not until Saturday that Mr. Nevins would give any intimation that it was his desire or intention to retire. This action on his part was brought about by the earnest solicitation of personal friends on account of the falling health of the old gentleman. The Times has been in existence a little over four years.

Murdered in Mexico.

GALVESTON, Tex., April 21.—Two Italians, dressed in the garb of Turks, who have been selling bead work, left a day or so ago on foot for the City of Mexico, after passing Reno, on the line of the Mexican National Railway, two hundred miles from Laredo. They were attacked and the one who carried the money was tossed around the neck, jerked down a precipice and instantly killed. His companion escaped by running. The murder is reported to have been captured and turned over to the authorities.

What the Doctor Says.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 21.—Dr. Cosse, the Chicago doctor, who is at present in this city, denies that there is any truth in the statement made by Killeit, a Montreal doctor, regarding himself. He says he has no connection with dynamites, but acted on the joke when some parties accused him of having a knowledge of dynamites.

Collapse of Snow Sheds.

BUCKEYE, Neb., April 21.—Three hundred feet of snow which fell last night, half a mile west of Summit, and covered the working train and a number of Chinese. Six dead Chinese have been taken out. Five others were seriously wounded. A wrecking train and medical aid has gone to the scene of disaster.
